Asa C. Queen of Marion will receive the second outstanding honor conferred upon him by Masonry within 10 days when 500 Masons from every part of Ohio, including a number of grand lodge officers and other Masonic dignitaries, convene here next Friday night to pay honor to his service to the order.

The first of the two honors came to him Wednesday in Boston where the thirty-third degree, an honorary degree conferred only on Masons who have distinguished themselves by outstanding service, was conferred upon him. He is the only thirty-third degree Mason in Marion, the fifth Marion man to receive the honor, and one of 19 from Ohio who received the degree this year. He and the nine other Ohioans upon whom the degree was conferred Wednesday were nominated for the honor by thirty-third degree Masons of Ohio

Special Communication

Next Friday's meeting here in Mr. Queen's honor is known in Masonry as a special communication, ordered by Harold W. Hall, master of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. & A. M. These are special meetings called by the master in special tribute to an outstanding member. Mr. Queen is past master of the Marion lodge, past district lecturer for Marion, Morrow and Union counties, past illustrious master of Marion Council No. 22, Royal & Select Master Masons and at precent is grand (state) orator of Free & Accepted Masons.

Another feature of next Friday's meeting will be the presentation of a 50-year service medal to Daniel H. Krause of San Francisco, Calif., member of the Marion lodge for half a century. Mr. Krause, 72, is visiting in Marion. The 50-year medal he will receive will be the tenth presented by the Marion lodge.

At this meeting, a resume will be given of some of the outstanding meetings held in Marion lodge in 1922, the year Mr. Queen was master.

Threat of Controversy Dropped in Phone Case

Council Gets Report That Plan Is Approved; Action Started To Protect Payments

The threat of a controversy between city council and the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. over the method by which the company is paying $108,000 in rate refunds to Marion subscribers disappeared last night when councilmen, in a special informal meeting, received Solicitor Carter Patton's report that the refund payments are being made in accordance with orders of a federal court.

Council decided it would be inadvisable to attempt to reopen the refund payment question in federal court, a step that would be necessary if further action were taken in an effort to get cash refunds instead of monthly credits on telephone bills by which the company plans to pay most of the $108,000.

Payment Urged

Councilmen also urged Marion telephone users to accept the monthly credits as payments unless they personally cared to contest the terms of payments. Last Monday night, council advised telephone subscribers to withhold payment of current bills until an investigation to determine the rights of subscribers to cash refund payments could be made.

With this investigation completed and with further action appearing inadivsable, council virtually washed its hands of the question of refund payments. Council had taken up the question Monday after the citizens' utility committee had protested that the telephone company was not complying with an original court order in the case calling for payments of refunds by May 1, 1934. The solicitor's investigation disclosed that the original order was modified by the federal court after the telephone company had presented statements showing it was unable to make cash refunds by May 1, 1934.

Audit Necessary

Any effort to contest the modified order and insist on cash refund payment at once would necessitate a complete audit of the telephone comapny's books in an effort to show that the company is in position to pay the refunds, it was explained. An audit of this nature would require considerable time and would be expensive, Solicitor Patton said. He also added that the city would have little hope of obtaining a court order for cash payments, even with the audit.

New Development in Refund Case

Yesterday brought another development in the telephone rate refund question when the citizens' utility committee took steps to protect the rights of Marion telephone users in a surety bond which the telephone company gave the utilities commission when the company began to collect excessive rates in Marion.

Action taken by the committee was brought by Clarence A. Bolin, chairman, acting for the committee and all Marion telephone users. He stated in pleadings filed in the common pleas court of Franklin county that The Independence Indemnity Co. of Philadelphia, which had furnished $75,000 bond for the telephone company to guarantee payment of excess rates to Marion subscribers, is now in liquidation in that court.

Oct. 2, it was explained by J. W. Jacoby, attorney for the citizens' committee, is the last day for filing claims against the Independence Indemnity Co. Mr. Bolin states in his pleadings to the court that there is a possibility that the telephone company may not be able to complete payment of its refunds. He asserts that the rights of Marion telephone users to compel the bonding company to complete the refund payments, if the telephone company should fail to do so, should be protected.

NEW ALTITUDE RECORD SET

Russians Co Up 11.8 Miles in Balloon After Eight Failures.

PREPARE TO COME DOWN

Surpass Old Mark Made by Prof. Piccard in 1932.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Sept. 30—Three Russian balloonists who took off for a flight into the stratosphere at 8:41 a. m., today reported by wireless before preparing to descend that they had reached an altitude of 19,000 meters, or 11.8 miles, which they claimed to be a new record.

As preparations were made for the descent of the balloon, which had passed out of sight early in the morning after its take-off, was plainly visible to the naked eye and appeared as a silvery fleck in a cloudless sky northeast of Moscow.

"Please prepare to receive us," said the final message from the ballonists. It indicated that the bag might land about 31 miles from the capital.

An earlier message said they had ascended 17,900 meters, which, if their instruments were correct, surpassed the record of 16,700 meters set by Professor Auguste Piccard in August, 1932.

The balloonists, Georgi Prokofiev, Ernest Birnbaum and Konstantin Gudenoff, had made eight previous attempts to get their craft off the ground, but today, thanks to perfect weather, they had easy sailing.

Five messages sent while they were soaring aloft told of their rapid progress upward. About two hours 19 minutes after they took off they wirelessed they had bettered the Swiss scientist's altitude and were still rising.

They had then drifted only 24 kilometers from the straight line upward, they reported, and said the equilibrium of their craft was good. They did not complain of the cold, although at that great height the temperature inside their gondola was 22 degrees below zero, Centigrade, and the outside temperature was 65 degrees centigrade below.

The crew wore heavy fur-lined, three-quarter length coats, felt, boots of knee-length, and regulation aviators' helmets.

GOVERNOR SIGNS LAW AIMED AT KIDNAPERS

New Ohio Bill Provides Death Penalty If Victim Dies.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30—Governor George White's executive pen has helped whet the weapon by which Ohio will exact death from the kidnaper, if his victim dies.

The Annat law which will be effective in 90 days, provides that juries must specify a recommendation of mercy if the death penalty is to be averted. A life term in the penitentiary would then be imposed.

The penalty is to apply to kidnapers who cause the death of their victim "either during the period of detention or afterwards" by means of "wounds, or violence, or any personal injury; threats of death, or of great bodily harm; exposure to weather or disease; neglect or failure to provide proper food, clothing, shelter or medical attention, or any other means."

Furthermore, threats of kidnapers under the new law will bring penalties on conviction of from five to 30 years imprisonment.

The new law also extends its powers by ruling that if kidnaped victims are brought into the state, the offense shall be deemed to have been committed in the county in Ohio into which the kidnaped person is brought or sent and shall be tried in that county under the new law.

FARLEY LAUDS ROOSEVELT IN OHIO ADDRESS

PRAISES WOMEN FOR HELP

Cabinet Member Gives Them Credit for Part Played in NRA.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Sept 30 With a statement that America is emerging from a national crisis as critical as war ever could be, Postmaster General James A. Farley said here today that President Roosevelt had pushed his policies "with a speed that is dazzling and a vision which has changed the whole state of mind of the people from one of gloom to one of hope and confidence."

Addresses Women

Addressing a luncheon meeting of the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio, the postmaster general paid glowing tribute to the part women are playing in national and state affairs, especially in the drive to make the NRA a success.

The major attack against the depression is approaching its objective, said Farley, adding, "we have recaptured much ground from the enemy and we are confident of complete victory."

The postmaster general declared there was no doubt in his mind as to what the outcome of the prohibition repeal vote Nov. 7 in Ohio will be. But, he added, "I am particularly anxious that the result in Ohio shall be so overwhelming that it will truly reflect the sentiment of all the voters of your state."

Appealing for universal support for NRA, Farley asserted President Roosevelt "has kept the faith with us. Can we do any less than keep the faith with him. He stood squarely 100 per cent on the platform of the Democratic national convention, adopted at Chicago last year, and today he is striving to fulfil the promises of the platform just 100 per cent. Every platform pledge of the Democratic party, in which final action was possible, has been kept."

"It is unnecessary for me to tell you how much President Franklin D. Roosevelt appreciates what the women of America have done for him. In the final analysis a very large measure of the success of his great industrial recovery program rests with the women of America. It goes beyond saying that his gratification over the response of the women—who constitute close to 90 per cent of the actual buyers of the commodities necessary in our daily lives—is deep and sincere. He knows that the women of America, without thought of politics, have rallied to the support of the NRA and are enrolled under the blue eagle."

Ready to Fight

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Sept. 30—There is so many bonifide colonels of Kentucky that they have formed an association, and have been split up into zones. Irvin Cobb (who can't return to Paducah) has been commander in chief of the colonels east of the Mississippi river, and I have been appointed to direct all Kentucky colonels west of the river. A war of extermination of Kentucky colonels may be just what the country needs.

So, nothing would please me better than to meet Irv, and his fat, gouty, worn out, Negro-dialect, old colonels, with my buch of young, agile, alert boys that reside on the progressive side of the river. Our men are colonels through achievement and not just through appetite.

PEN FUGITIVES FREE SHERIFF

ONE CONVICT CAPTURED

Nine Others Who Shot Way Out of Prison Still at Large.

By The Associated Press

VALPARAISO, IND., Sept. 30 — Ill from lack of food, but otherwise unharmed, Sheriff Charles Neel of Corydon, Ind., was safe today after having been subjected to three days' hardship as a captive in the hands of four escaped convicts, who were believed for a while to have put him to death.

Liberated near Hobart, Ind., early yesterday, the sheriff, accompanied by James Clark, one of his abductors, who later was captured, made his way to Gary.

Captain Matt Leach, head of the Indiana state police, charged in a statement that the sheriff's long delay in notifying authorities of his release was "apparently a neglect of duty," but the sheriff protested that he had been afraid the convicts would kill him.

Scared of Convicts.

"I didn't know what to do," he said. "They threatened that they would kill me if I told my story. I felt sure they would come and get me at my home if they were not captured."

Sheriff Neel and Clark, who also was ill from lack of food, boarded a street car at Hobart and rode to Gary. Neel got off at the city limits, but Clark continued on to

BATES, BAILEY AND SHANNONS FOUND GUILTY

Three of Five Twin Cities "Money Changers" Acquitted by Jury.

SENTENCES NOT PASSED

Six Others Get Prison Terms in Abduction of August Luer.

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 30 Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates, the three Shannons and two of the Twin Cities' defendants were convicted by the federal court jury today in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping trial.

Isadore Blumenfeld, Sam Kronlyk and Sam Kozberg, three of the Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants, were acquitted.

The other Twin Cities defendants, Barney Berman and Clifford Skelly were convicted.

The verdict was read immediately after Judge Edgar S. Vaught convened court at 11 a. m. (Marion time).

That a verdict had been reached became apparent last night, but Judge Vaught had ordered it be sealed until today.

The jurors deliberated less than two and one-half hours.

Given Three Days

Judge Vaught immediately announced he would grant three days for motions for retrials for those convicted, congratulated the jury on "your courageous discharge of your duty," and allowed the jurors to depart.

The verdict left the sentences to the discretion of the court. Life imprisonment is the maximum penalty provided by the law.

The defendants received the verdict with only slight visible signs of emotion.

The three Minneapolis men who had been released sighed and settled deeper in their chairs.

Berman and Skelly looked dumbfounded. They had been confident they would be freed.

Their attorney, J. B. Dudley of Oklahoma City, immediately announced he would seek a new trial.

John Lowe, gray haired bailiff, who had been in charge of the jury during its two weeks tour of duty, brought the sealed envelope to the clerk, Theo Filson, as soon as the judge had asked the usual questions about the verdict.

Judge Vaught opened the flap, drew out the paper and glanced at it casually before handing it back to the clerk to be read.

First Test of Law

The trial was the first test of the new federal kidnaping law, enacted largely as a result of the tragic Lindbergh baby abduction.

The federal government had two of its key men in its war on crime here for the trial—Joseph B. Keenan, assistant United States attorney general, and Harold Nathan, assistant director of the bureau of investigation.

The end of the trial brought no change in the status of the "deal" between Bates and the government for return of Bates' share of the ransom loot, supposed to have been $75... Bates has offered to tell fe... agents the hiding place of t... money if he would not be prosecuted on state charges of robbery with firearms, for which the penalty is death.

Luer Kidnapers Are Sentenced

By The Associated Press

EDWARDSVILLE, ILL., Sept. 30.—Prison terms ranging from life to five years were assessed here today by a jury trying five men and a woman for the kidnaping of August Luer, Alton, Ill., banker.

Eugene Norvell, 33; Percy Michael Fitzgerald, 40 and Mrs. Lillian Chessen, 50, were given life sentences. Other sentences: Mike Musiala, 45; 20 years; Christ Nicola Gitcho, 56, five years; Charles Chessen, 57, five years.

The state had demanded the death penalty for the kidnaping of the 77-year-old banker and meat packer, who was dragged from his home the night of July 31, and held for five days before he was released after an unsuccessful effort to collect $100,000 ransom.

Deliberations of the jury, which began Thursday at 4:55 p. m. after the trial had run 14 days, ended formally at 10:10 a. m. today when a buzzer sounded in the court room to announce that the verdict had been reached.

The prisoners then were ordered brought to the court room. Word that the verdict had been reached spread rapidly and the court room soon was crowded. The prisoners, handcuffed together, were matched before the judge.

Mrs. Chessen was named in statements made by other defendants as the "finger woman" who pointed out Luer to the other participants in the plot to ... ely

From George street to the north corporation line, the present street widths of 35 and 42 feet will be resurfaced.

Approval of the proposed construction of a new bridge across the Scioto river south of here was the first announcement that this project was being considered by the highway department.

Two in Wyandot Co.

Two Wyandot county projects also are included in the list of projects approved today. They call for construction of a bridge on federal route 22 over Tymochtee creek at an estimated cost of $34,000, and surface treatment and grading of state route 15 starting at the northeast corporation line of Carey and extending northwest 4.17 miles to the Hancock county line at an estimated cost of $30,500.

Detailed plans for the construction of all improvements must be prepared before the state highway department advertises for bids.

MARION MAN HELD IN MORROW CO. JAIL

Earl Winslow Pleads Guilty To Liquor Charge; Is Fined $200.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Sept. 30—Earl Winslow of Marion, arrested yesterday afternoon at the horseharns on the Morrow county fairgrounds and charged with possession of liquor, was one of five persons arrested here yesterday afternoon in raids made by Sheriff F. I. Struble with agents from the state prohibition department.

The others were Pearl Richey and his wife, Mrs. Edith Richey, P. W. Sipe and his wife, Mrs. Rosetta Sipe.

Winslow was unable to pay a fine of $200 and costs assessed by Judge P. H. Wieland in the common pleas court this morning when he pleaded guilty and was remanded to jail.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sipe pleaded not guilty to charges of possession. Judge Wieland fixed Mrs. Sipe's bond at $100 and Mr. Sipe's bond at $500. Both were released. Mr. Richey was released on bond after pleading not guilty to a charge of selling. Mr. Richey was returned to jail when he failed to pay $200 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of possession.

The arrests were made by Sheriff Struble, with affidavits signed by the state agents. The two couples were taken at their homes here. Several gallons of alleged whisky and a dozen or more pint and half-pint bottles of the liquid were taken, officers said.

Kidnaped July 22

Two machine gunners, whom he identified as George Kelly and Bates, prodded Urschel from a sun-porch bridge game at his sumptuous town house here the night of July 22. They kidnaped Walter Jarrett, another oil operator, who was playing bridge with Urschel, Mrs. Urschel and Mrs. Jarrett, but robbed and freed him within an hour.

Urschel, trial testimony disclosed, was taken in the kidnapers' motor car to the Shannon farm near Paradise, Tex., where he was hidden, shackled and blindfolded, for more than a week.

Through letters and "blind" newspaper advertisements, the kidnapers negotiated with Urschel's associates and finally E. E. Kirkpatrick, Tulsa manager for the kidnaped millionaire, handed a satchel containing $200,000 in $20 bills to Kelly on a Kansas City boulevard.

Traced by Air-Liner

He told his whole story to federal agents. With painstaking regard for detail, the officers identified an air-liner which Urschel heard roar above his farmhouse prison at regular intervals, narrowed the search to the Paradise area, and on Aug. 12, made a dawn raid on the Shannon home.

They found Bailey, leader of the Memorial day break of 11 convicts from the Kansas state prison, asleep, a machine gun by his side and ransom bills in his clothing.

Taken in Denver two days later, Bates, too, had a roll of the telltale federal reserve notes.

More of the ransom was traced to St. Paul and Minneapolis, and seven men were arrested as alleged "money changers." Two of them, Charles Wolk and Pete Valdez, were freed during the subsequent trial for lack of evidence.

The other five—Berman, Skelly, Blumenfeld, Kronick and Kozberg—were tried in a tower courtroom surrounded by machine guns and guards with Bailey, Bates, Shannon, his wife and his 21-year old son, Armon, on federal charges of conspiracy to kidnap.

Man Arrested in Chicago in Connection With Louisiana Abduction.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 30—George M. Cox, New Orleans and Chicago shipbuilder, whose wife, son and parents-in-law, have been missing from their home here since last Saturday night, said today that a man had phoned from Chicago last night asking if the $25,000 reward offer for the safe return of his family was authentic."

The caller said the family was "well and happy."

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 — A man who identified himself as William Davis, Jr., 27, of Louisiana, was taken into custody by police today, after the said New Orleans authorities had informed them that the family of George M. Cox, wealthy ship owner, was believed to have been kidnaped for $25,000 ransom.

Acting on a tip, the source of which they refused to reveal, officers arrested Davis, who until two weeks ago was employed on Cox's lake steamer, the Isle Royale, at a hotel. He denied any knowledge of the whereabouts of the family and said he was preparing to return to Louisiana.

Hammand, where he took a taxi. Through the cab company he was traced and captured by the Hammond police. Shortly afterward he was returned to Michigan City, where he and nine other convicts shot their way out of the Indiana state prison last Tuesday.

The sheriff's story identified pictures of Clark, a bank robber, Walter Detrich, sentenced for participation in the same robbery; Joseph Fox, who was doing a life term for bank robbery, and John Burns, a convicted murderer, as the four convicts who kept him captive.

He said his captors treated him as well as they could under the circumstances. LEADERS DIVIDED ON PRICE-FIXING POLICY hurry, officials believed, or there is trouble ahead. The voluntary agreement method has been slow. Officials said it would simplify matters if an industry were told what price it might pay the producer, establish a maximum to protect the consumer in certain cases, and let competition take care of the retail price.

In checking over the voluntary agreements signed thus far, officials have come to the conclusions that in many of them the farmer gets too little and the consumer paid too much.

Price fixing on farm commodities past the farmer would, if continued lead to the question: what is a fair return on capital invested? It is a question the farm administration does not wish to answer.

MINE STRIKERS END SIEGE AT CLAIRTON

Move Made So Idle Workmen Can Study New Coal Code.

By The Associated Press

CLAIRTON, Pa., Sept. 30—The siege of Clairton by striking coal miners was eased off suddenly today so the miners may study a coal code agreed to last night by the H. C. Frick coke interests and other "captive mine operators."

Picketing of the mine by-products plant of the Carnegie Steel company was halted and the miners left by truck and afoot either for their homes in Fayette, Washington and other counties or for Centerville, where a mass meeting will be held this afternoon.

Only a few hundred still were in Clairton at 9:30 a. m. and these said they expected to leave momentarily.

Steel workers who slept on improvised beds in the plant last night to avoid possible conflict with the miners seeking a sympathetic walkout, remained inside pending departure of every picket.

The day force went to work as usual and officials said the plant was operating normally.

The workers will be paid for every hour spent in the plant, whether sleeping or working.

The end of the siege came soon after the arrival of a telegram from Governor Pinchot urging the men to return to their homes.

Machinery Set Up To Settle Dispute

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 30—President Roosevelt set up today the machinery for regulation of the disordered coal industry and its thousands of miners.

With peace in sight for this troubled business, he looked ahead to new steps in the recovery drive, once again focusing on finance and credit expansion.

The president received just before midnight last night an agreement for the "captive mines" operated by the iron and steel companies, bringing these under the scope of the bituminous coal code and he signed it early this morning.

This stroke spread the new deal for working hours and wages of miners over the entire bituminous field and puts the code into effect on Monday.

TROOPERS END NEW OUTBREAK IN PRISON

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30—Rebellion seethed behind steel bars in the crowded, century-old Eastern penitentiary today while reinforced details of state and city police patrolled its confines as a result of the prison's second serious outbreak within a week.

Cramming convicts, many of them "lifters" threw the grim old institution into wild disorders last night after helmeted state troopers quelled rioters who started a free-for-all in the yards during yesterday's late recreation period.

The situation, although apparently under control, was so serious that Warden Herbert J. Smith summoned additional state troopers and city police to the prison and asked national guard headquarters in Philadelphia for a list of riot equipment available.

Rioting, the most serious in the old prison's history, broke out Tuesday night, the convicts starting more than a score of fires by igniting their mattresses and clothing.

A. F. OF L. FACED BY THREAT OF TROUBLE

Dissention in Ranks as Date for Convention in Washington Nears.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 — Revived threats of dissension in labor promised difficulties at the American Federation of Labor convention next week over the way it has been trying to organize workers since the recovery act became law.

One strong branch of the federation—the metal trades department which represents around 75,000 men—was seeking support for a resolution that would condemn the present American Federation of Labor policies.

When the recovery act was signed, the federation immediately sent men into the field to seek new members, because of the labor new guarantee of collective bargaining minus coercion from employers as to what union a man should join.

To speed organization, the federation issued, said President William Green, about 3,000 new charters. But the unions to which these charters were issued were affiliated directly with the American Federation of Labor, and not through one of its subordinate international unions.

The metal trades convention which ended just yesterday, insisted that continued chartering of these "federal unions" would completely demoralize, if not actually destroy, the various international unions' charter rights guaranteed by the American Federation of Labor.

6 KILLED IN BATTLE ON HAVANA STREETS

American Wounded in Clash Between Demonstrators and Soldiers.

By The Associated Press.

HAVANA, Sept. 30—Street battles between Communists and soldiers, in which six persons were killed and 14, including an American were wounded, left Havana tense today.

The shooting and wild disorder attended a demonstration of thousands of Communists in memory of a Cuban Communist leader killed in Mexico four years ago and whose ashes were to have been interred in a huge obelisk in a Fraternity park built by Communists.

This was in opposition to government wishes and this disagreement apparently brought on the shooting and started the general battle yesterday afternoon.

Many feared a new outbreak for the ashes of the slain youth, the student Julio Antonio Mella, apparently were in the hands of the soldiers.

Joe Gibson, 46, an American newsreel photographer, received buckshot wounds in the leg. Six others of the injured lay near death.

The campaign is under the direction of the United Christian forces, which include the Anti-Saloon league, W. C. T. U. and other temperance organizations and nearly all of the religious denominations.

The meeting will be followed by a goodwill tour into every precinct and corner of the county to boost the state dry convention Nov. 1 and 2 in Columbus, and to enroll at least three delegates, preferably a man, a woman and a youth, who will pledge themselves to be at the Columbus gathering.

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

Luke 10:25-37.

25. And, behold, a certain lawyer stood up, and tempted Him, saying, Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?

26. He said unto him, What is written in the law? how readest thou?

27. And he answering said, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.

28. And He said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live.

29. But he, willing to justify himself, said unto Jesus, And who is my neighbor?

30. And Jesus answering said, A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.

31. And by chance there came down a certain priest by the way: And when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.

32. And likewise a Levite, when he was at the place, came and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33. But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was: and when he saw him, he had compassion on him.

34. And went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him.

35. And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him; and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will repay thee.

36. Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?

37. And he said, He that shewed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise.

LUKE is the only gospel writer to record this parable of the good samaritan. The story is of a lawyer, trying to gain eternal life, and is a lesson of the reward given to the humble, of love.

The Jews hated the Samaritans, with a deep hatred of generations, even back to the time of Moses, and avoided them as much as possible. Jesus wanted to rid the world of all hatred, so he quoted in this parable the good actions of one of this hated race.

The Jews had been taught to obey the law (Deut. 6:5) and wanted to keep them (Lev. 18:5). They knew that obedience was necessary to gain eternal life. (Ezek. 29:11).

Everyone has an opportunity to help or love their neighbor in some way, perhaps not to the same extent the lowly Samaritan was able to help the rich man, but there is always some one needy. A smile or kindly word helps more, at times, than money.

This standard of living that Jesus gave the lawyer, is the same as He gave the disciples in the Sermon on the Mount, and is equally good for a standard of living today.

The Vanished American.

He toiled, in the fashion of congressmen, for many years in the house of representatives, which he reached originally by causing himself to be elected from a "created" Texas district. Long service in the work of making his country's laws finally brought him by the priority route to what has been called the second most powerful position in the federal government, speakership of the house of representatives.

He was mentioned prominently for the Democratic nomination for president of the United States. Actually, he was given the nomination as vice presidential candidate, chiefly because he happened to come from the right part of the country. Once established on the bandwagon of the Roosevelt candidacy, he began to exercise his prerogatives, making speeches and remarks here and there which were quoted widely.

For reasons of expediency, he was persuaded to hold his tongue while the head of the ticket lined up the votes. From that time to this, he has been one of the least vocal men in the United States, although as presiding officer of the senate during the special session of congress he never was completely out of sight.

When the special session adjourned, he removed to Texas, where he was reported to be enjoying a vacation in the pleasures of the hunt and the streams of his home territory. The last report, however, was received some time ago. This man is, after all, vice president of the United States—a job whose holders in recent times have kept themselves before the people. There was dynamic Charles G. Dawes. There was Calvin Coolidge. There was Charlie Curtis and there was his sister, Mrs. Gann. There were also, Theodore Roosevelt, who never was lost to view, Aaron Burr, Thomas Marshall and John C. Calhoun. No blushing violets were these and no blushing violet is John N. Garner by nature. What has happened to make him the vanished American?

Although the machine gun industry may have lost a good customer, it will be agreed generally that national recovery will not be set back seriously by having Mr. Kelly taken out of circulation.

President Roosevelt on Inflation.

The attitude of President Roosevelt is the key to prospects of inflation. Until congress reconvenes, it will be his judgment that will determine whether or not the United States will deceive itself by believing in the ancient fallacy that the volume of money and not the rapidity with which money circulates determines prosperity and prices.

The basis of Mr. Roosevelt's policy is expected to be the platform of his party, which declared itself in favor of "a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards and an international monetary conference called on the invitation of our government to consider the rehabilitation of silver and related problems." The people have a right to expect that nothing will be done in direct violation of the Democratic promise to preserve a "sound currency."

In his inaugural address the President said: "There must be provision for an adequate but sound currency." This remark seemed to imply that if the currency ceased to be adequate, although sound, action would be taken to remove the difficulty. It is in the belief that the present currency is inadequate that inflationists claim they have the proper remedy.

It is simple to prove, however, that the volume of currency in the United States at present is more than adequate to provide for the people's needs. The appearance of inadequacy is given by centralization of currency resources in banks. Obviously, increasing the amount of the currency could do nothing to alter this condition; banks cannot give money away. They can release it only as loans and until there is a more stable condition and a more certain prospect loans will be slow.

President Roosevelt outwardly has given inflationists no encouragement, other than that inherent in the attempts of his administration to ease the channels of credit. Nevertheless, the deep uncertainty of the times is generating dangerous uncertainty concerning his actions in the future. He could give the country no greater assurance of stability than a promise that he does not contemplate altering his policy.

The Changing Tax Trend.

Not in a [illegible] time have [illegible] figures and statistics been used as extensively as news material [illegible] as during the last three years. [illegible] have reached [illegible] and stunned [illegible] of citizens.

In other words [illegible] mathematics [illegible]. Not that people [illegible] acting stage [illegible] [illegible] they are [illegible] deal with affairs in which [illegible] general welfare is involved.

Take the subject of taxes [illegible] former and recent times, attention the average person [illegible] important matter was that which [illegible] necessary at tax-paying time. He [illegible] his bill at the treasurer's office, growled a little probably, but paid and gave it no further thought until another six months period elapsed.

It is a different story now, and probably will be for some years to come. The habit of keeping an eye on government expenses and all else relating to taxes which has been acquired during a period when it was necessary to make every dollar perform the greatest possible measure of service will not soon be discarded by the public.

For that reason, the recent announcement that Marion county's tax duplicate will be approximately $9,300,000 less during the coming year was an item of interest to all citizens. It means continued lower taxes, which always is good news to those who pay the bills. In other respects, the situation is not so cheerful. Lowered revenue naturally will necessitate maintenance of a strict economy program which will call for doing without improvements and public service which in some instances are desirable and possibly essential.

Time and improved conditions generally will remedy that difficulty. The reduced duplicate is evidence of a lowered property market value. This is something decidedly out of the ordinary in Marion county's history. Up until the time of the recent economic recession, each year almost invariably brought an increase in the tax duplicate. That upward trend is certain to return as general business recovery progresses and property values are proportionately enhanced. Until then, the problem of how to raise enough taxes to keep the local branches of government and public service functioning adequately will continue to perplex officials and taxpayers will continue to realize how important the amounts they pay to the county treasurer are in maintaining operations.

Residents of Marion county should bear in mind that this tax situation is not confined to their locality. It is general throughout the state and figures from the state auditor's office show that in many counties decreases in tax duplicates are considerably larger than here. The movement upward will come first in those localities whose natural resources are greatest and where citizens are most energetic and progressive. There is every reason to believe that Marion county comes in that classification.

No wonder the price of coal is going up. The nudist colonies probably are placing orders for their winter fuel supply.

The Grapevine Is Busy.

In the unhappy world of almost forgotten men who are penned in by concrete and steel for their misdeeds the grapevine is busy again. As it has done many times in the last few years, it is carrying news of prison breaks to many ears which are listening for nothing else.

It has become common for convict unruliness to break out in many widely separated penal institutions almost simultaneously. A few days ago there was an outbreak at Mansfield. It was accompanied by an uprising in the Indiana state prison. Hundreds of miles to the east, Philadelphia prisoners made trouble.

Prison officials in every institution in the United States will be on guard until things become quiet again. They are unable to explain what happens, unless it is the fact that an uprising in one prison encourages trouble-makers in other institutions.

Surely there would be no encouragement for any but the most desperate characters in the events that invariably follow unruliness. Prisoners who escape have an infinitesimal chance of gaining freedom. Disorder always brings reprisals in the form of stricter regulations and a stronger demand from the public for protection.

But ultimate effects are not important considerations in the minds of men with virtually everything to gain and nothing to lose by their nearly always futile resistance to authority. It is natural to strive for and demand perfection in the penal system, but perfection is unattainable when the working material is composed so largely of humanity's most imperfect specimens.

The public works program may be slow getting started, but that doesn't include patronage jobs in which the chief activity sometimes is working the [illegible].

OHIO'S FIRST MEDICAL PRACTICE LAW.

Though chiefly thro[illegible] the ac[illegible] of the medical profession [illegible] efforts had been made earlier to secure [illegible] well educated and trained phys[illegible] in Ohio, it was not until 1868 that any[illegible] effective legislation looking to th[illegible] end was secured.

It became a law in May, 1868, and the law was entitled "an act to protect the citizens of Ohio from empiricism and to elevate the standard of the medical profession."

The first step toward the effective control of the practice of medicine and surgery was taken in 1896. In May of that year a state board of registration was created. Dr. N. R. Coleman of Columbus was its first president.

New York Day By Day

TICONDEROGA, N. Y., Sept. 30—Ticonderoga is a windy, well-watered Adirondack trail, was once strewn with trading posts, forts and pioneer cabins. At the head of beautiful Lake George and within a haloo of Lake Champlain, Ft. Ticonderoga is a land mark in the north of the nation.

The Adirondacks are especially glowering with rusty foliage this time of year. Smoke hangs low. All the way as we dizzily climbed the peaks Lake George lay blue and unrippled for its 32 mile length. So peaceful. Odd that Indian war cries and the rattle of musketry once echoed around it!

Many mansions on the coastal estuaries now bear "For Sale" signs. For this region was a getaway for Wall Street plungers. During the summer youthful campers hike [illegible]. But the only hiker we saw was a Zim's "Weary Willie" even to a bandanna bundle on a shoulder stick—the first tramp in years!

An aural buzz was noticeable as we continued to ascend. Harry Silvey peered from [illegible] into the abyss and murmured: "[illegible] storm mountings, there would be [illegible]." And went back to his cat-nap. [illegible] how profoundly pedantic this pil[illegible] has become.

Ticonderoga Fort's crumbled ramparts [illegible] with decaying cannon. One turn [illegible] reveals a monument to memory [illegible] of 1758 of the Black Watch who died [illegible]. Their valor inspired a favorite [illegible] Louis Stevenson poem, "Ticonderoga." Hallowed ground indeed. Even recently the fort is a puny defense in modern warfare. One airplane, one bomb—and it would be wiped out. I wonder how futile our present defense would seem 200 years from now. It's a paragraph Mr. Brisbane could make [illegible].

The French erected the fort in 1755, marking the very southern outpost of the nation. Three years later it was attacked by Abercrombie and the British army of 15,000. In 1759 the British attacked it again and the French evacuated. All a prelude to the introduction of one of my favorite characters in history, Ethan Allen. Without him we might be hurrahing King George.

It was Allen and his one-gallused clodhoppers known as the Green Mountain boys, who demanded surrender of the fort. His utterance, reminiscent of lusty melodrama that used to thrill at Pike's Opera House in Cincinnati, was: "Surrender in the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental congress!" And, By Cracky, those British skedaddled!

Everywhere a bulge in history. Schuylerville, for instance, where General Burgoyne surrendered in 1777, following the most decisive battle of the Revolution and one signaling beginning of the end in the struggle of the colonies for independence.

The gloomiest village we came across is Whitehall, N. Y. Substantially built, neatly kept and pleasantly located, we saw only three people in its whole length. Maybe it was milking time or the town was just being exclusive. Anyway, a lot of fancy porch sitting was going to waste. But I did see an old time strawberry roan mare with flax mane and tail, in a pasture. That's something!

We drove to Albany this evening to look at the state capitol, and browse. Out a mile or so is the Governor's mansion. Albany's main section is hilly, and newsboys cry editions lustily—like Los Angeles. Albany, and I scarcely know why, has a greater dignity than most capitals. In repose, it is village-like but when it becomes active it takes on a smart metropolitan air. I even saw a Warner Baxter sort of a fellow with a monocle stroll out a hotel.

For days all of us have been thirsting for a roadside glass of cool buttermilk. Buttermilk loses its cellar crockiness in the city. It becomes insipid like cafeteria milk. But under the open sky, with tiny clots of yellow blobbing the surface, it's a libation for gods. We had two glasses each near Albany.

So far no trouble about hospitality for dogs. Yet they bark at everyone who comes to the door save for a single idiosyncracy. They do not bark at a waiter arriving with food. Indeed you would think they were welcoming a favorite rich uncle long lost in the Klondike or something.

Washington And Wall Street

BY GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—A very swell fight is on at the present moment among the "retail merchants."

The majority of the 1,500,000 affected would like to sew the business up into a cost-plus-10-per-cent code.

Those in the minority are making a very loud noise in behalf of the consumer. With a superior publicity organization they assure us the retailers' code is the bunk.

It really is a scrap between Macy's, of New York, and the Wanamaker type of stores. Macy peddles goods for cash and does away with the small loss that charge accounts incur. The other big department stores—New York leading—want a 10 per cent profit on their gross billings.

If you take a Macy man off in the corner he will admit quite a lot of the "inefficient merchants" may fail by the wayside under such a code as is contemplated by his interests.

At the same time any one of these cash-and-carry men will point out to you that the cost-plus-10 boys have six or more jokers in the hole.

Says the majority code now pending: Clearance sales, damaged merchandise, fire sales, perishable merchandise, discontinued lines of advertised merchandise and goods sold upon final liquidation of any business—are excepted from the proposition of adding 10 per cent to gross billings.

"Sales"

The cash-only merchants say there is no way of riding herd on "sales" of that might be inspired by any of these exceptions.

Further they announce that the two big mail-order houses first were lined up with the price-fixing idea but since have joined the Macy camp. Still giving you the slant from the no-credit stores, the mail-order houses checked up and found they could do more business on a lesser scale of profit.

Eau De Nickel

As the retail code affecting drug stores stands now those in the majority want to stop cutting prices at 21 per cent below the advertised figure.

This brings to mind a nationally known mouth wash which retails for a dollar a bottle. It is a U. S. Pharmaceutical formula and costs about 5 cents a bottle to manufacture.

Even at 21 per cent off it would seem high priced to the informed layman.

Cut-Throat

Shock troops are concentrated in every corner for the retail code battle.

On one hand are those big department stores that would like a fixed profit. On the other hand are those who insist on giving the consumer "a best possible price."

The chain drug stores, organized into Drug Institute, Inc., favor the cost-plus system because they have been worn down to a receptive state by several years of cut-throat competition.

Smaller drug stores are being fronted by still another group of organizers. They too want definite assurances of profit based on the wholesale price.

F. D. and F. C.

Since March 4—and for some months before that—you have been hearing about a gentleman named Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Make no mistake about it—he is the works of this administration and you can praise him or damn as you will.

Another man has stepped ever so quietly into the picture however and you might give him a little consideration.

His name is Frank C. Walker. He is treasurer of the Democratic national committee and he was one of the first three inspired men who laid actual cash on the line 'way back last year to get Mr. Roosevelt nominated.

At present Walker is coordinating the "executive council" which embraces not only the cabinet but all of the emergency set-ups and meets every Tuesday the President is in Washington.

Walker didn't want this job. He had an eye on the governorship of Hawaii. It took specific legislation to make him eligible and the bill failed of passage.

But now he is in the "executive council" you might be surprised at the number of times the smart boys receive you and then suddenly say: "Pardon me, but I have to go see Frank Walker."

Lagging

Don't be astonished if Walker emerges as one of FDR's chief emergency fixers. NRA has been going ahead but not too fast. Public works was supposed to keep pace. Somehow or other it hasn't.

Henry Morgenthau, in charge of the farm credit administration, has seen the handwriting on the wall and demanded that farm mortgages be refinanced in two or three weeks rather than three to six months.

The home loan board under "Seaboard Bill" Stevenson—designed to give urban home owners a chance at refinancing—has been even more delinquent. It hasn't even sized-up its task.

Harry Hopkins, head of the federal emergency relief administration, is doing a very adequate job.

You are safe in believing that President Roosevelt has decided to keep all of his extraordinary agencies in step. The job may be split in two but Frank Walker looks like a natural as one of the coordinators.

He has such an insight on the inside already.

Notes

George O'Connor, Washington's favorite minstrel, returned from a recent Philadelphia ship launching with a new idea. . "Now I know what they do with all that water," he said, "they put boats in it."... BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—Inflation generals in New York privately concede a temporary set-back in their sweeping offensive.

They thought the embattled farm brigades led by Senators Thomas and Ellison Smith would smash the line and start mopping up. It didn't work that way. They are still confident of ultimate victory but admit they will have to wait until credit expension gets a more thorough try-out. Meanwhile they are very busy recruiting congressmen for the next session and big doings are promised then if not sooner.

Lineup

If you think inflation is imminent, take a close look at the administration's financial advisers who, according to informed New York, are in control at present. Woodin, Acheson, Black, Warburg, Rogers, Sprague—every one of them opposed to currency doctoring.

In addition some of the more influential cabinet officers—Ickes and Wallace—are opposed to immediate inflation. They may have to disguise their views somewhat for political reasons but New York insiders say that those are their real sentiments. Braintruster Berle has sort of receded into the background but his weight for what it is worth is also agin.

This lineup leaves Professor Warren as almost the only insider of importance carrying the inflation banner. Even he is willing to tackle it by degrees instead of all at once.

Trench

The anti-inflationists are seizing their temporary advantage and entrenching. You would be surprised at the number of financial leaders who would be glad to dig in at 35 percent outright devaluation. Several New Yorkers of importance are privately working for this solution. They are willing to concede this much gain to the inflation army if only printing press money can be headed off.

Their chief argument is the expansion of the credit base which would result from revaluation of the federal reserve's gold holdings. They are anxious to keep control of the credit machinery in the Federal Reserve system instead of transferring it to the treasury and the RFC. But they don't really give a hoot what the government does with the additional credit so long as the dollar is stabilized and the threat of paper money abolished.

The inflationists are hep to these tactics and are not at all likely to compromise if they can help it. Many of those who wanted 40 per cent devaluation a few months ago are now opposed to it because they see bigger victories ahead.

The prediction still stands in informed quarters that there will be no open inflation before November and only then if emergency demands it. January will be another horse entirely.

Money

An old angle on the inflation battle is that impartial experts agree on the minor physical effects of either devaluation or the printing of $3,000,000,000 worth of treasury notes to replace government bonds.

They say that devalution of 35 or 40 per cent would merely serve to confirm the existing situation in foreign exchange. Domestic prices might shoot up momentarily but would quickly tend to stabilize on a new level, leaving everybody except large debtors and creditors (including the U. S. Government and its bondholders) just about where they were.

And even those who advocate the issue of treasury notes do not believe they would mean a real increase of currency in circulation. Instead it would be a matter of the new notes driving "better" money, such as federal reserve notes, into retirement. So any price gains that might follow would be the result of psychology and not mathematics.

Real Estate

One result of the inflationist scare has been a revival of wise money interest in New York real estate despite tax complications. One of the biggest real estate speculators in New York is back in the market. He made a tidy profit selling to optimists in 1928 and 1929.

This development is too recent to have much effect on prices yet. If it continues it will be a real lifesaver to savings banks and trust departments of commercial banks. Sustained real estate appreciation would cure one of New York's worst depression headaches.

War

A corporation head just returned from an extended European visit reports that war tension in France and Germany is mounting rapidly. High French circles are winning peasant support for their belief that it would be better to press forward now than to wait a few years when Germany will be better prepared. The situation is loaded with TNT and any little incident might set it off.

Mussolini is ironically the greatest force for peace in Europe. He is concentrating on strengthening his position at home. England also will go to almost any length to stay out of hostilities.

Dinner Stories.

"A friend of mine, walking down the street with a business acquaintance," writes a Manchester man, "saw on the other side of the road a young man whom he knew slightly. Thinking that an introduction to the business man might be of advantage to the young fellow, he beckoned him across and said, 'I'm sorry I can't introduce you properly, but—this is Mr. B.'

"'Oh, that's all right,' said the young man with a grin, 'he's my father.'"—(Exchange.)

Torture, an old institution [illegible] human beings, still prevails in many places. It was once a [illegible] of course everywhere. In Rome, at one time, certain persons could not be tortured. These included soldiers, children under 14 and pregnant women, unless they were accused of treason or sorcery. When the French revolution abolished torture, that was called a radical, dangerous, unwise and altogether reprehensible attack on justice.

Roman law that forbade the torture of pregnant women, unless accused of treason or sorcery, also allowed such women to pick and eat fruit in any garden without interference or punishment. They may not do that now.

Old Cluna forbade torture of children under 15 and adults past 70. Sawing the accused in two lengthwise, has been an unpleasant though popular, punishment in Asia.

It cost me money to learn how to keep my thumbs from jerking nervously when I bluffed." In Hindoo courts, when natives testify, lawyers watch the witnesses' big toes. Van Atta Co. Exclusive Dealers for Popular Products

STORE STOCKED FOR COMPLETE SERVICE

20,000 Different Items in Hardware, Paints and Other Merchandise Carried by Van Atta's

Although it takes about 20,000 distinct and separate items to make up a modern hardware and electric store there are several major lines that are ever growing in interest and popular appeal.

According to A. A. Van Atta, president and general manager of the Van Atta Hardware Co., a few of these are Speed Queen Washers, Garland Gas ranges Majestic C...l ranges, Humphrey's Radiant Fires, Sherwin-Williams paints, enamels and varnishes, Crosley radios, Mirro Aluminum Ware, Remington guns and ammunition, Russwin Builders hardware, Yale locks and Libby Owens glass. Van Atta's take great pride in offering this kind of dependable merchandise to the buying public.

One of the outstanding popular sellers is the New Speed Queen Electric washer. This machine has every advantage of operation and construction that other washers selling at a higher price have. It also has many good features not found in higher priced washers. Needless to say this has been one of the big selling items and has saved washing machine buyers many hundreds of dollars since they have been sold in this community, as the price is only $44.50. It is a real pleasure for the salesmen to point out the advantages of buying the "Speed Queen" and prospective buyers are also pleased at the good washer they can buy at such a reasonable price.

Another popular line is the new Garland Gas ranges. The new Garland Ultra Classique Gas range is the finest gas range in operation, and matchless in comparison. The new Garland is an artistic triumph, yet highly practical and representing the utmost in convenience. This new creation by Garland will add beauty to any kitchen, lighten kitchen tasks and assure better and more uniform baking results. Garland gas ranges are beautifully finished. With their new design and their glistening porcelain enamel surfaces these new ranges will bring incomparable beauty and charm to any kitchen.

For those who use coal instead of gas for coking purposes, the Van Atta Hardware Co. have Majestic coal ranges. Color and style come into the kitchen with the new Majestic all-enamel range. It is the most beautiful range any one could wish for, having all those qualities which have made the Great Majestic a household treasure in a million homes.

A range that bears the name Majestic is worthy of confidence, for behind each Majestic stands a company with a nationwide reputation as makers of excellent ranges. Only the Majestic Manufacturing Co., with its years of experience, could have produced a range as fine as the all-enamel great Majestic. It is a range you may buy with positive assurance of reliability and highest quality.

Weather For Varnishing.

Varnish will give the best results if it is applied when the temperature is between 70 and 80 degrees Fahrenheit. Good ventilation is essential. Care should be taken, however, to keep extremely warm drafts of air from striking the freshly varnished surface. The area to be varnished should be clean, dry and absolutely free from dust.

Paint All Year.

Painting work may be carried on any time during the year, except when it is raining or when the atmosphere is extremely humid. When weather conditions are not satisfactory for exterior painting, interior surfaces can be worked upon.

Auto Sales Mount.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 30—Automobile sales in Cleveland during August exceeded sales for the same month in every year since 1929, Herbert Buckman, manager of the Cleveland automobile manufacturers and dealers association, announced.

Above is a photograph of the front display window of the Van Atta Hardware company's store at 181 West Center street. The Van Atta store is noted for its unique and cleverly designed window exhibits.

Sherwin-Williams Paints Assure Best Value in Durability, Beauty, Economy

ONE of the chief desires of the Van Atta Hardware Co. is to supply the people of Marion and vicinity with good paint. For beauty and world tested economy use Sherwin-Williams paints. When once your house is painted with S-W-P your saving has only begun for it will outlast cheaper paints by years. Sherwin-Williams have the pick of the world's best colors. That is why S-W-P colors are so rich, so lasting and so true to character. Beauty of appearance which is also durable is a practical business asset. Keep your house well painted. It not only gives it that much desired "prosperity look" but safeguards the money you first put into it.

New Bathroom Heaters

Another new line that is creating quite a sensation this fall is Van Atta's new line of bathroom gas heaters. They look very beautiful finished in ivory porcelain with a tinge of green. They are powerful heaters but are so constructed to fit into the small nook and corners. The prices are very low within the reach of every purse, making it possible for anyone to own one.

The New Crosley radios are also popular sellers. The new designs and "hook ups" together with the reasonable prices should make everybody want to own one of the new Crosleys.

Another big selling line the Van Atta company takes pride in showing is electric lighting fixtures and electrical supplies. This firm sells these supplies both wholesale and retail. Their salesmen travel in 12 counties surrounding Marion county and bring a nice volume of business to the city of Marion through this activity.

Right Time To Buy

Mr. Van Atta stresses the idea that there never was a better time to buy electric lighting fixtures than now. The prices are extremely low, the designs are beautiful. While the prices have been advanced considerably by the manufacturers the Van Atta company has not increased their prices while present stocks and supplies last. Quite a large space is given to the displaying of these lines and one can easily find what they want from this big showing.

The facts are, as stated in Van Atta's, "If a hardware store should have it, we have it, and any merchandise we sell must give complete satisfaction."

ACTIVITY SHOWN IN CONSTRUCTION WORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—With the public works program getting under way, especially in the highway field, heavy engineering construction is showing signs of revival after two months of lethargy, according to contract award figures compiled by Engineering News-Record.

Contracts let during the week ended Aug. 21 amount to $15,901,000, as compared with an average of little better than $12,000,000 for nine preceding weeks. Highway lettings reached $4,700,000 for the week, a figure exceeded only three times this year. It is expected that most of the $400,000,000 allocated to roads under the public works act will be placed under contract before the end of the year. Contracts were divided $10,995,000 for public works and $4,996,000 for private construction.

A mounting list of proposed construction projects is reported from every section of the country. Many of these are imminent, bid dates having been set for early openings, with contract lettings scheduled for September and early October.

INTERIOR PAINTING BOOSTS RENT VALUE

Color Effects Attract Prospective Office Tenants, Tests Show.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 30—Office units afford the building manager his best opportunity to satisfy the tastes of discriminating tenants, according to officials of the American paint, varnish and lacquer industries.

Office space, it is stated, is unquestionably rendered more inviting or less so to the prospective tenant depending upon the use of interior paint effects.

Studies of the relative values and psychological effects of various colors schemes, undertaken by leaders in industry, have developed so-called "therapeutic values" in color. After experiments in this field, a number of hospitals have departed from the use of traditional white walls in favor of colors which were classified as stimulative, recuperative to sedative in their effect.

The psychological importance of certain colors, however, is closely allied with the very definite economic value of tints that bring right reflecting qualities. The efficient functioning of an office frequently depends on the color scheme, it is pointed out, and on the quantity and quality of light that is reflected from its painted surface.

OHIO REFRIGERATOR SALES SET RECORD

Sales of household electric refrigerators in Ohio during the first half of this year broke all records for the six months period according to the Electric Refrigeration Bureau of the Edison Electric Institute. The total six months sales were 43,961 units compared to 29,459 sold in the same period last year. June sales this year totalled 16,074 units compared to 12,884 sold in May and 6,826 in June 1932.

The six months total represents 15.6 per cent of the state's quota set for the period by the bureau in its promotional campaign to sell 500,000 units in the United States this year. At the end of June 666,750 units had been sold in the entire country.

Homemaker's Question Box

Question — What accessories should be included in my daughter's school wardrobe?

Answer — Well planned accessories are as important as well planned clothes. No doubt the basis of any well planned wardrobe is a color plan. If the purse is limited then it is important to select one set of school accessories which will complete different costumes. The essential accessories are a well-fitted comfortable pair of sports shoes. Enough pairs of durable hose to assure washing after each wearing. There is economy in selecting several pairs of one color. Undergarments depend on the age of the girl, but should be planned to safeguard health and insure comfort.

A beret or sport hat of felt or fabric should also be included. Perhaps it is best to have the hat the same as the coat in color. A scarf and gloves depend on climate and one's taste. Most girls enjoy wearing them. Plenty of handkerchiefs —of colors to fit in with the wardrobe color scheme, are important.

Most jewelry, unless very attractive, adds little to the attractiveness of the school girl.

THE sun, moon and planets may glitter in the skies of an evening if one may give ear to what is promised by folks in the know. A pledge which a city club asks its members to follow is worth passing on. CHAPTER 31
"You shot Van Berg"

N... where I came ... pretty hard to make ... were crazy about ... imagine I was ... believe you. You ... the emeralds, and ... troubled to make ... I'd taken the ... in the first five

... I was going to ... because I ...

... I marry you?" said ...

... struck her ... arm of the chair ...

... telling me ...

... with old Caroline ... her all my life ... of twenty-eight ... housekeeper at ... one and ... likes with Mr. ... you spoke to ... drive."

... going to go next day, be- ... Van Bergs were coming. ... you had a nerve ... I do?"

... at him resentfully. ... got me to work it so ... on. It was quite easy ... Caroline. She said I was ... and the Van Bergs did ... And then--"

... reached out for another cig- ... a match, and looked at ... the little yellow flame.

"Are you trying to make me be- ... telling you something you ..."

"I can't make you believe any- thing," said Jim.

She threw the match into the grate ... short of the spangled shavings.

"Oh, have it your own way! Do you want me to tell you how you pinched the emeralds."

He had himself well in hand. He said coolly:

"I stole them?"

Nesta laughed.

"You make me tired, Jimmy Riddell! You stole them?" She tried to mimic his voice. "Do you think you can act the innocent with me like that after the way I've heard you talk in your sleep? Why, you've never stopped talking, and if I hadn't got you out of that hospital in double quick time, we should all have been inside." She laughed again at his blank look and flung ... quid—stir! Haven't ever done this, I suppose? Well you will ... this if you don't cure yourself of talking at night."

* * *

HE leaned forward with his elbow on his knee and his chin in his hand.

"You say I took these emeralds?"

"I say you did—and I'll say it was a pretty nippy bit of work. Pity you shot him, though."

He jerked away from the word.

"What are you saying?"

"You shouldn't have carried a gun," said Nesta maliciously. "I said so all along."

He got up. His spine had gone cold. He felt the sweat break out upon his temples.

"What's that you're saying?"

Nesta got up, too.

"I'm saying that you shot Mr. Van Berg."

He went over to the mantelpiece, leaning on it with his two hands, his head bent between them, his eyes staring blankly at the spangled shavings in the grate.

What nightmare was this? He had broken into a house, stolen property, shot a man for a handful of green stones, eight square green stones—chained two by two with pearls—swinging from a man's hand. Whose hand? Van Berg's hand?

He could see it under the light. It was as plain as anything he had seen in all his life—a powerful hand, with spatulate fingers and an old healed scar running from the lower knuckle of the first finger to the root of the thumb.

He didn't see Min's carefully polished grate with the dazzle of shavings and the small bright blue tiles, he saw Van Berg's hand with the scar on it, and he knew how the scar had come there. Out of all the things that he had forgotten he remembered this one—that Van Berg had got that scar playing with a pet monkey.

No, it wasn't a bite. The monkey had got fooling with a razor. It was a clean cut. He had forgotten everything in the world but he hadn't forgotten Van Berg's monkey.

His head swam for a moment. Then he straightened up and half turned, still leaning on the mantelpiece. He caught a curious look on Nesta's face, a watching look, but it went past him.

"Is Van Berg dead?" he said.

"Not yet," said Nesta.

"Is he bad?"

She shrugged her shoulders.

"If he doesn't die for a year and a day, they can't hang you."

His voice came at her with an angry leap.

"Is he bad?"

"So so." And then: "It's not your fault he's not dead. You let him have it all right."

He went over to the window and threw it up. He had to push past the pink geraniums; one of the bright blooms snapped off. The room had suddenly seemed crowded with used air. Outside, a light wet wind blew veeringly. There was rain in the wind, but it would not fall yet awhile. It struck damp and cool against his face, and he was glad of it.

Nesta's voice came from close behind him.

"Where did you put the emeralds, Jimmy?"

He turned blindly, pushed past her, and went blundering through the door and out into the street.

* * *

CAROLINE drove to Marley, which, as the day nurse had told her, was only eight miles from Elston. She found a charming little village with stone walls and thatched roofs.

The thatched roofs were doubtless a refuge for earwigs, but though Marley contained some 600 inhabitants, with the usual allowance of cows, cats, pigs, hens, and children, it did not, so far as Caroline could ascertain, conceal Mr. and Mrs. James Riddell.

At first this made Caroline angry. A very bright color bloomed in her cheeks, and she thought of several things which she would have liked to say to Mrs. Riddell. Later on, while she was having tea in the prettiest of the cottage gardens, she had a brain-wave. There were earwigs in the thatch. She had just fished the third out of her tea, when the brain waved and she wanted to know why Mrs. Riddell had said she was coming to Marley when she wasn't coming to Marley.

Caroline had of course taken the greatest possible dislike to what she described as that snatching woman. But even people whom you dislike very much don't as a rule tell entirely purposeless lies; so why had the snatcher said she was coming to Marley?

Caroline drank some of her tea hastily because she was very thirsty and she wanted to get in before the next earwig. She had a feeling that there were going to be more earwigs and sure enough when she put down her cup there was one in the saucer. She thought very seriously about Mrs. James Riddell. And the more she thought, the less she could think of any reason why she should have told that lie—unless—

The "unless" was so exciting that Caroline felt quite dazzled by it. Why does any one give a false address?

Because they don't want to give a real one—and they only don't want to give a real one because they've something they're ashamed of or something they've got to hide. Mrs. Riddell had come and fetched Jim away from the Elston cottage hospital.

She had said that he was Jim Riddell, and she had said that she was going to Marley. Well, she hadn't told the truth about going to Marley, so why should she have told the truth about Jim being Jim Riddell?

To Be Continued.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

Failure of Dick and Edith to Return Worries Madge.

JUNIOR'S shrill voice, asking for his father and commenting upon the fact that he had not seen him at the beach, had much the same effect upon our little group as a thunderbolt might have had. It effectively silenced the conversational hum which the return of the children had set in motion, and for a few seconds, that seemed an eternity, nobody spoke.

But I could feel that if the physical eyes in the room were considerately turned away from me, the mental orbs were not. Almost every-one in the room knew of Edith's hopeless infatuation for Dicky, and I knew that an involuntary query was forming in each mind as to what my reaction would be to my small son's question.

In the first years of my marriage that knowledge would have brought me to the verge of panic, but years and experience have disciplined me, so that I was able to reply with apparent nonchalance to Junior.

Why Dicky Hadn't Returned

"Dad hasn't come home yet," I told him. "He'll probably be along in a few minutes. If he comes before you go to sleep, I'll have him come up to see you. Otherwise, you will have to wait until morning."

"Aw, Mums," Junior said in the mechanical fashion common to all small boys trying to extract another drop of privilege from a source which they know to be dry. "Do we have to go to bed right away?"

"I fixed him with a flittering eye," as I asked:

"Are you trying to make me sorry that I gave you the privilege of going to the beach with the grown-ups tonight, when it was long past your bedtime?"

Junior wriggled as he mumbled a perfunctory but contrite, "I'm sorry, Mums," then Roderick sounded another not familiar to all women in charge of small boys and girls.

"We're awful hungry, Auntie Madge," he said, with a hopeful inflection in his voice. "We didn't get a chance to eat much supper. Why, I only had two pieces of cake! Is there any left?"

With an effort I kept my lips from twitching.

"Yes, there is plenty of cake left. You shall have some tomorrow. But tonight—you know the rules—no rich food at this late hour. If you're really hungry, you will enjoy some bread and butter and jam, or some bread and milk. Come along with me to the kitchen, and I'll prepare you something."

"Nothing doing!" Lillian interposed emphatically. "You're as near the exhaustion point as a woman can be and not pass out. You get into the house and lie down, or better still, get to bed. I'll see to the boys."

"What's the matter with the younger generation, darling?" Marion queried. "I'd love to fix 'em up a snack."

"You'd better go to bed hungry, kids," Bob advised pessimistically. "These modern girls may know enough to spread butter on bread, but I doubt it."

"That speech elects you to some work," Carolyn told him. "We'll see how mean a butter knife you can swing."

"What was I doing just now in the kitchen?" Bob demanded truculently.

"Working your jaws, whenever I was looking at you," Carolyn retorted with a grin. "Sometimes you were eating, sometimes talking, but those jawbones never stopped moving up and down—also sideways."

She looked up at him archly, then in the moonlight I saw her expression change to wariness, as Bob started toward her.

Daily Guide to Health

Facts About Diathermy Treatment.

I RECEIVE many inquiries regarding diathermy. Information is requested about the use and value of this new method of treatment in the cure of many disturbances. In order to answer these questions it will be necessary to go somewhat into detail about diathermy and how it affects the tissues of the body.

A recent statement of the Council on Physical Therapy of the American Medical association states that "diathermy is the therapeutic use of a high frequency electric current to generate heat within some part of the body." It is divided into two classes. That form of diathermy used for medical ailments such as arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, myositis, pneumonia, and other inflammations, is spoken of as "medical diathermy."

When the diathermy is used for removal of tumors, new growths, swellings or other abnormalities, it is spoken of as "surgical diathermy." ... this has been replaced by the word "electro-surgery."

In medical diathermy the current is applied so as to produce heat in the body tissues. Just enough strength of current is used to bring about a ... reaction, but not sufficiently high to damage or destroy the tissues of the body.

Diathermy is of great benefit in certain disorders of the body. But let it be remembered that it should be given only by the experienced and trained physician.

Diathermy is harmful to health when used in acute inflammatory conditions, such as cellulitis, acute arthritis and other acute infections of the body. It is especially dangerous if used on an individual who has a tendency to hemorrhage. It is not to be applied to an area of the skin where the nerves have been injured and there is no means of determining the intensity of the applied heat.

Recently diathermy has been successfully used for the removal of tonsils. In this method of treatment the tonsils are destroyed after several sittings in which the current is applied first to one tonsil and then to the other. This is done at intervals of one to two weeks.

The advantage of this means of removing tonsils is great. The patient need not remain in the hospital and may continue with his work. Further, it is of advantage particularly desirable in elderly patients who cannot undergo the strain of an operation. Of course with highly nervous individuals and young children, this method can not be used.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, Oct. 1

Sunday's horoscope holds omens of some adverse, unhappy and intriguing situations that may contribute to a disturbing and futile Sabbath day. There may be an element of treachery, subterfuge or other sinister condition to confront, with slander, subtle attack or even undermining by means of "poison pen."

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which they should arm against all ... of duplicity, craftiness and subtle attack, especially through writings and in connection with business integrity. Pitfalls, temptations and conspiracy seem to unite to undermine this, but home ties may offer compensations in confidence and fidelity.

A child born on this day may be shrewd, sensitive, emotional of peculiar leanings and perhaps erratic tendencies.

Notable nativity: Annie Besant, president Theosophical society.

* * *

For Monday, Oct. 2

Monday's astrological forecast is for a particularly active, ... ly and pleasant day in both business and private affiliations. It is a good day for large operations with the mind keen and comprehensive and the energies under fine stimulus for aggressive and telling attack.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively, pleasant and prosperous year, with all ... tending to their happiness and advancement from all sources of endeavor. The mind will be inventive, original in thought and may inspire freedom of action and revolutionary methods, possibly leading to high adventure.

A child born on this day while perhaps bold, original and independent should also be kind, gracious, cheerful and very popular and well liked.

Notable nativity: Gen. Ferdinand Foch, French Army Lord.

In all history, there has never been a time when stockings, lover's vows and marriages have been so light and perishable as they are today.

Fashions in women, like fashions in hats and jewelry, change from year to year. Just now the popular type is the cold, sophisticated icicle which has replaced the St. Vitus-dance-effect—just as the hats which once covered the eyes have backed away to the crown of the head.

Doctors used to say that a man dug his grave with his teeth; but prohibition has taught him a quicker and pleasanter way to dig it—just by crooking his elbow.

A normal woman just can't bear to see a bachelor hanging around loose, when some woman might be using him for a husband.

Football Takes Spotlight of Ohio Sports Realm Today

13 CONTESTS CARDED; FRIDAY NIGHT TILTS ONE-SIDED AFFAIRS

Wittenberg Trounces Detroit; John Carroll Tops Otterbein Cardinals.

By The Associated Press

College football took over the sports realm in Ohio today with 13 contests on the slate.

Most of the seven games which opened the first big week-end of the gridiron sport for Ohio last night were one-sided affairs in which two Ohio conference battles were won by John Carroll and Muskingum, two Michigan elevens were sent home defeated, and one Ohio's squad was downed by a West Virginia eleven.

Today's interest lay particularly in one of the three trips being made by Ohio elevens outside the state—the visit of Miami to Bloomington, Ind., where the Buckeye conference squad was the underdog in a contest with Indiana; in four Ohio conference tussles and the meeting of Ohio Wesleyan and Heidelberg at Delaware.

Toledo vs. Capital

In three of the Ohio conference games, Toledo was given an edge over Capital in the contest at Columbus, Wooster journeyed to Hiram a favorite over the Hiram eleven, and Case, defending the conference title, was expected to be capable of downing Ashland at Cleveland. The other Ohio loop game was at Bowling Green, where the Bee Gee team was host to Mt. Union.

Two other Ohio conference squads were busy, Akron playing host to Western Reserve and Ohio Northern journeying to Bluffton. At Athens Ohio U met a West Virginia team, Morris-Harvey, and at Xenia Wilberforce lined up against Western Kentucky. Tonight the University of Cincinnati will attempt to crush little Rio Grande at Cincinnati. Oberlin opens its season against Rochester U. in Rochester, N. Y., and tonight Defiance meets Alfred at Alfred, N. Y.

John Carroll's Blue Streaks proved too much for the Otterbein Cardinals last night, the Streaks piling up 20 points while holding Otterbein to six points. The Streaks opened up early and kept their touchdown machine rolling. Otterbein's lone marker was on a 35-yard pass.

Muskies Triumph

At New Concord Kent State lost to Muskingum, 12 to 0, after holding the Muskies in all except the second quarter. Furbay scored both touchdowns, one after a brilliant running attack and another after Powell crashed through center to put the ball in scoring position.

Johnny Heller scored both touchdowns as Dayton turned back Adrian, Mich., 14 to 0.

Wittenberg gave another Michigan squad, Detroit City college, a sound trouncing 33 to 0. Tim Brewster of Akron crossed the goal line three times for the Springfield team.

Kenny Jordan made sweeping end runs, caught passes and intercepted one to provide Xavier university with a whirlwind attack in its victory over Kenyon, 33 to 0.

Findlay's early homecoming celebration was marked by a 13 to 0 victory over Denison, in which a powerful line and two sets of ball-carriers played their part.

John Marshall journeyed to Wheeling to play West Liberty Teachers, and received a lesson 15 to 7.

Columbus Red Birds To Play Marion Team Oct. 10

Marion diamond enthusiasts may yet get a chance to see a high class baseball team romp the base paths of a local park before the curtain is rung down on the 1933 season. Plans were announced here today by Chick Skelly, of LaRue, manager of the Marion Travelers' baseball team for an exhibition game between his club and the Columbus Red Birds, champions of the American Association, on Tuesday, Oct. 10. The game Skelly announced, will be played at Lincoln park.

Plans for the games, as announced by Skelly, call for almost the entire first string lineup of the Red Birds to appear in Marion. This would include Nick Cullop, Jack Rothrock, Hal Anderson, Benny Borgmann, Mickey Heath, Lew Riggs, Burgess Whitehead, Bill Delancey, Jim Winford, Clarence Heise and Ralph Judd. Ray Blades, manager of the team, Paul Dean and Bill Lee, pitchers, will not be here, Skelly said, adding that Nick Cullop, slugging outfielder, would be in charge of the Birds.

Fighting for Title

The Columbus club, now engaged in fighting for the Little World series championship against the Buffalo Bisons, will stop off in Marion while on a barnstorming tour of Ohio cities, Skelly reported. Mansfield is the only other city in this district in which they will play.

Besides announcing that the Columbus club would play here, Skelly told of the acquisition of several star players to strengthen the lineup of the Travelers for the game. Joe Hauser, the hard hitting first baseman who smashed the world's record for home runs this season by hitting 69, is slated to be at first base for the Travelers. Hauser is a member of the Minneapolis Millers.

Gordon Hinkle, a catcher with Rochester of the International league is also expected to play with the Travelers Skelly announced. Hinkle will do the catching for the club.

Mangum To Pitch

Another addition to the Travelers' lineup, Skelly announced is Lee Mangum, a twirler for the Boston Braves of the National league. This pair of big time stars will join the regular lineup of local players which includes, Francis Bacon, Ping Rizor, Glenn Price, Kenneth Gallant, Don Penry, Johnny Marshall, Carol Caris and Forest Mann. Main hails from Ada.

Present plans calls for starting the game at 4:45 p. m. but the starting time, Skelly intimated, may possibly be shifted.

Stiff Battles Loom in Intersectional Play Today

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—College football plunged into its second week today with a score of promising intersectional and sectional games to break the monotony of "push-over" warm-ups most of the major schools have scheduled.

Down south, Tennessee's Volunteers, picked as one of the most formidable of all Southeastern conference elevens, went into action against Virginia Poly, powerful Southern conference representative, in what looked like standout duel of a sectional program that also included the Tulane-Texas A. and M., Louisiana State-Rice, North Carolina State-Georgia, Clemson-Georgia Tech and Duke-Virginia Military battles.

Iowa and Northwestern, meeting in the first Big Ten game of the season, were forced to share the mid-western spotlight with Vanderbilt and Oklahoma, clashing at Norman, Okla.

Pitt Expects To Win

In the east, Pitt anticipated an opening game triumph over Washington & Jefferson, while Army and Navy tackled strong Southern small-college outfits in Mercer and William and Mary, respectively. Fordham, Cornell, Dartmouth, Holy Cross and Boston college, among other major powers of the section found small cause for alarm in the minor opposition fed them.

U. C. L. A. and Stanford collided head-on in the principal Pacific coast conference game and Washington and Oregon State were favored to score conference victories over Idaho and Montana, respectively.

These were the leading battles but perhaps a dozen other major schools took the field along with them. Illinois, Indiana and Minnesota of the Big Ten stacked up against non-conference opposition in Drake, Miami of Ohio and South Dakota state respectively. Michigan State played Grinnell and Kansas faced Creighton. Southern California expected to continue its sensational winning streak at the expense of Loyola of Los Angeles.

Smashing intersectional victories for "Pop" Warner's Temple Owls and Iowa State of the Big Six featured last night's program.

Temple Wins Easily

Temple, making its first start under Warner, crushed South Carolina of the Southern conference 26-6, while Iowa State rallied for a touchdown in the last quarter to defeat Denver, Rocky Mountain conference outfit, 18-13.

Duquesne, meanwhile [illegible] West Virginia, 19-7, Bucknell defeated Lebanon Valley, 34-[illegible] Detroit blanked Michigan Normal, 31-0, and St. Louis overwhelmed James Millikin, 32-0.

In the southwest, North Texas Teachers, conquerors of Southern Methodist last week, fell before Texas Christian 13-0, while Southern Methodist came back with a 13-0 triumph over Texas Tech.

PROSPECT WINS, 3-2

The Prospect High school softball team took a 3-2 decision from Waldo yesterday. Gabriel set the losers down with two hits. Prospect scored the winning run in the last half of the ninth inning.

NORWALK SMOTHERED BY ASHLAND ELEVEN

First Half Attack Nets All of Points in 20-0 Victory.

Springing a flashy attack in the first half of the game, Rosie Stern's Ashland Hilltoppers rolled up a 20-0 victory last night over Norwalk High school on the Ashland field. Brick Ganyard turned in a 70 yard dash for a touchdown to aid the Ashland cause.

Ashland scored three minutes after the game started when Harley Price plunged across the line for a touchdown. A long pass late in the first period gave Ashland its second touchdown and Ganyard broke loose through tackle on his spectacular jaunt shortly after the second period opened.

COUNTY SOFTBALL FINALS ON SUNDAY

Two Marion baseball teams will toss bats in the game Sunday at Lincoln park which will be staged in connection with the finals of the Marion county softball tournament. The Marion Merchant Greys colored, and the Clark's Market will clash in the baseball game.

High's Radio Sales and the Marion Paint company softball teams will meet to decide the softball tournament championship. The softball teams will play either one or two games. Should the Paints win the first they will have cinched the title but should the Radios win the first game a second game will be played.

In case of the three games the baseball game will be played between the two softball contests.

COLUMBUS TAKES THIRD GAME IN ROW FROM BUFFALO, 11-5

Teams Move On To East With Red Birds Heavy Favorites.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30.—With Columbus holding a two-game lead, the Little World series battle today shifted to Buffalo where the Bisons and the Red Birds battle it out after their third successive night game. The Red Birds ended the Columbus engagement with an 11-5 victory over the Bisons last night.

That brought the score to three victories for Columbus and one for Buffalo.

The sixth game will be played Sunday afternoon at Buffalo the series continuing there until one of the teams has won four.

Four Buffalo pitchers worked in a vain attempt to halt the Red Bird attack which netted 11 hits. The Bisons garnered 11 hits but except in the sixth inning when they pushed across four runs they were held in check by Clarence "Lefty" Heise, the association's leading pitcher.

Jack Rothrock was the hitting star on the Birds side of the batting order. He had three singles and battered in four runs.

Carnegie's home run double and single in four times at bat and the two runs he batted in nominated him for the Bison slugging honors. Buffalo scored its four runs in the sixth on four singles and an error by Cullop. Up to that time Heise had allowed only three hits.

Last night's game marked the last appearance here in Columbus uniform for Dean Rothrock, Whitehead, Winford, Delancey, Riggs and Borgmann, all going to the Cardinals next season, and for Lee who has been sold to the Cubs.

HARDING, DELAWARE CLASH HERE TODAY

Both Teams Seeking Second Victory in Fairground Field Game.

With several members of both squads on the sidelines because of injuries, the Harding High Presidents and Delaware were scheduled to clash on fairground field here this afternoon in the second start of the season for both teams. Both won their opening games, Harding beating Mt. Vernon last Saturday 12-0 and Delaware winning from Mt. Gilead two weeks ago, 12-6.

With the weather having cleared up and prospects fairly good for a dry field, a barrage of forward passes was expected to fill the air at the North side gridiron. Both teams have been tossing plenty of passes in practice sessions this week, indicating that both may take to the air today in an effort to retain a clean record.

Harding will go into the game a slight favorite but Delaware has always proven tough for the Presidents and is expected to put up a stiff battle.

The reserves teams are scheduled for a game at 1:30 p. m. with the varsity contest an hour later.

CAREY GAINS TIE WITH TIFFIN TEAM

Special to The Star

CAREY, Sept. 30 — Two long passes which netted a touchdown brought Carey High school from behind in the final period of play yesterday and enabled it to gain a 6-6 deadlock with Tiffin Calvert. The game was played at Carey.

Williams scored for Tiffin in the second quarter on a 50 yard dash. Carey trailed until the final period when Messmer heaved a long toss to Kitzler and then Miley tossed one to Myers to take the ball across.

Sell-Outs for World Series Games Unlikely

Advance Sale for Diamond Classic "Satisfactory" But Plenty of Room Still Left.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Most of the stress and strain for the two World series contenders will [illegible] move around the box office between now and the opening of baseball warfare at the Polo grounds next Tuesday.

Joe Cronin and Bill Terry may be concerned about getting their players to the desired concert pitch. Old Gus Fan [illegible] worried over who the Senators will nominate to hurl against Carl Hubbell in the opening game as well as his chances of squeezing into one of the scant 5,000 [illegible] seats at the Polo grounds for $1.10.

But [illegible] today were [illegible] in the job of [illegible] the high-priced [illegible] profits for the [illegible] year.

Sell Out Unlikely

[illegible] sell-outs, especially [illegible] Polo grounds, appear [illegible] officials of both [illegible] the advance [illegible] and a reflection [illegible] interest.

However, there are some 44,000 [illegible] at the Polo grounds, exclusive of the small center-field bleachers, to be sold at prices of $3.30, $5.50 and $6.60 before the "S. R. O." sign can be [illegible].

The capacity at Washington, including extra stands erected in the [illegible] is around 36,000. The prospects of a full house at the capital [illegible] proportionately better than in New York.

Nine years ago when these same [illegible] fought for the World championship the top crowd at the Polo grounds was 49,243, the biggest turnout at Clark Griffith [illegible] numbered 35,922.

Hope for Big Gate

[illegible] seven hard-fought games [illegible] the gross receipts above the [illegible] mark in the 1924 [illegible]. The magnates will give three rousing cheers if they can show anything in proportion to [illegible] this year.

The battle between the Giants and Senators will be no less keen because of the financial stakes involved. The player pool ran close to $250,000 nine years ago in similar surroundings and with a similar impulse to conduct a knock-down-and-drag-out fight. That [illegible] close to $6,000 for each winning performer and around $4,000 for each loser.

The Giants believe they have the "big money pitcher" of the series in Hubbel and there's nothing now to dispute the claim. The opinion still holds that Washington will trot out Monte Weaver, young right hander, for the opener but gossip around the "gashouse district"—otherwise known as World series headquarters—developed some belief today that Earl Whitehill, the strong-armed southpaw, may get the nod from Manager Joe Cronin.

LAST MINUTE SPURTS CINCH SWAT CROWNS FOR FOXX AND KLEIN

Philadelphia Sluggeres Far Out in Front of Other Heavy Hitters.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The two major league batting championships are safe in the hands of two Philadelphia players, Chuck Klein and Jimmie Foxx.

Just to make a "sure thing" a little more certain, both Klein and Foxx spurted in the last full week of the campaign and lifted their unofficial averages far beyond the reach of all rivals. Klein, who has a strangle hold on the National league slugging honors as well as the base hit crown, sent his average up six points to .372.

Foxx picked up three points to gain a .356 average. He also crashed out home run No. 48.

LaRue Cops Third Victory by Beating Mechanicsburg

Special to The Star

LA RUE, Sept. 30—Deb Greenwood and Gillespie, backfield stars for the LaRue High school football team turned in sensational dashes yesterday as LaRue romped away with its third consecutive victory of the season. Mechanicsburg was the victim of the Marion county team, losing by a 20-6 score.

After going through the opening half scoreless, LaRue came back in the second half and decisively outplayed the losers. LaRue ran up a total of 14 first downs to five for Mechanicsburg.

Gillespie scored the first LaRue touchdown in the third period when he dashed 30 yards to score and Deb Greenwood raced 60 yards a few minutes later for another counter. Don Greenwood completed the touchdown making for LaRue.

TODAY LAST DAY TO SHOOT SQUIRRELS

A reminder to the hunters of Marion and vicinity that today is the last day for hunting squirrels was issued today by O. H. Neimeyer of Prospect, deputy state game protector. At the same time Neimeyer announced the opening of the open season on ducks, geese, coot and brant. The season opens at noon on Oct. 1 but inasmuch as Oct. 1 falls on Sunday this year and it is illegal to hunt in Ohio on Sunday, the season will actually open on Oct. 2, at 5:59 a. m. (one half hour before sunrise). The bag limit is 12 a day.

BRAVES IN BELATED STRUGGLE FOR POST IN FIRST DIVISION

Boston Wins To Move Within Half Game of Fourth Place.

By The Associated Press

Lending a little interest to the otherwise dull closing days of the major baseball season, the Boston Braves have put on a spirited drive for a place in the National league's first division and a [illegible] of the World series money.

The Braves, pennant contenders only a month ago, have won [illegible] straight games in their belated bid for fourth place and today were only a half-game behind the St. Louis Cardinals with two games to go for each team. St. Louis still has a chance to beat Chicago out of third place and the Cubs, in turn, may move into second place ahead of Pittsburgh.

After running into various difficulties, the Braves finally won their second game from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 1 yesterday, in a replay of the drawn battle in the second half of Thursday's double bill.

With the New York Giants again out to get a line on their world series rivals, the Washington Senators cut loose with some more heavy hitting and loose pitching against the Yankees. Aided by a five-run rally in the fourth, when they bunched three hits with two walks and an error, and by a homer by Heinie Manush, the Nats pulled out an 8 to 5 victory even though Earl Whitehill was wild and yielded four runs in the fifth frame.

All other major league clubs were idle.

DRUGS AND SUNDRIES

STRANGE AS IT MAY APPEAR There is no satisfactory cure yet found for RHEUMATISM Although it has existed with all Nations as far back as History goes Stranger yet Medical investigators are still divided as to what always causes the disease Quite often one remedy will relieve one person and fail with another person with a similar case.

We have customers that have driven all the way from Florida to our store so as to be sure and get the genuine LOWER'S NEURITIS PRESCRIPTION

We personally believe that the use of one bottle of LOWER'S NEURITIS PRESCRIPTION will convince the most skeptical sufferer of NEURITIS or RHEUMATISM of its wonderful merit Hundreds of afflicted people claim radical recovery here in central Ohio

TARZAN PICTURE ON SCREEN AT OHIO FOR FOUR DAY RUN

Tarzan, the hero of the adult as well as the juvenile fiction readers, comes back to the screen again as "Tarzan the Fearless," which will be the attraction at the Ohio for four days starting Sunday.

A new "King of the Jungle" will greet the public in the person of Buster Crabbe, who was selected from hundreds of young Hollywood men because of his magnificent physique. He was an Olympic games swimming champ.

BULGARIAN CAPITAL HONORS AMERICANS

By International News Service

SOFIA, More streets in the capital of Bulgaria are named after prominent Americans than in any other city of southeastern Europe.

The latest thoroughfare to bear an American name is Washington street, in gratitude for the bestowal of the Washington bicentennial medal on the Sofia municipality last year, through Henry Shoemaker, retiring United States minister.

Despite the fact that Bulgaria was on the Central Powers' side in the late war, Sofia has a street named for the late President Wilson.

Two others are dedicated to the memories of Dr. Albert Long and Dr. Josiah Riggs, American missionaries who gave the Bulgarians the first vernacular translation of the Bible

GRAINS STAGE LATE UPTURNS

Rally Comes from Week-End Evening Up of Accounts.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 — Week-end evening up of accounts for all classes of traders led to brisk late uptums of grain prices today, but advances were mostly transient.

Few speculators were willing to leave any important risks open until Monday owing to uncertainties about what unforeseen Washington developments might take place. Primary arrivals of wheat today, 563,000 bushels, attracted much notice, as being the scantiest since the 1933 domestic crop started to move in volume.

Wheat closed serveus, at the same as yesterday's finish to ¾ higher, corn and oats both unchanged to ¾ lower, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 25 cents.

in the Series

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Hughie Critz, the Giants' half-pint second baseman from Greenwood, Miss., isn't much of a hitter. Sharp-tongued Waite Hoyt once referred to him as the 'all-American out.'

But the way this 33-year-old person can field his half acre around the keystone bag is something worth traveling to Coogans Bluff to see. He and Blondy Ryan at shortstop are about as great a defensive pair as you'll find.

When Hughie was with Cincinnati a half-dozen years ago he helped Horace Ford set a National league double play record that still stands. The Senators likely will find the Critz-Ryan combine just about as poisonous in the world series.

Hughie did a great comeback this season after a lame throwing arm made him almost a total bust last year. Bill Terry was all set to plant Byrne James from the Texas league at second, but when Critz found it out he got very busy. Byrne still on the bench.

Critz's fielding has been so sensational the fans have forgiven his .240 sticking average. He deserves an assist on the remarkable record of the club's pitchers. He'll spoil two or three base hits in almost any game.

Hughie is a nervous, superstitious little guy. Every time you look his way he'll be stooping and picking up pebbles and stuffing them in his rear pocket. After the game he dumps them in his locker.

He got an idea this year that he could boost his hitting average by smearing his bat with resin. Thought it would help the ball take hold, or something. But now he's sandpapered it all off. Decided he just wasn't cut out to be a slugger.

This is the eleventh of a series of sketches on individual stars of the Washington Senators and New York Giants, world series rivals.

Marion Woman Relative of Ohio's Oldest Mason

A proud moment in the lives of Mrs. Harry E. Hildbold of 265 Thew avenue and her son Marvin Boyer Hildbold came Thursday afternoon when they saw Jacob C. Dumbauld, the grandfather of Mrs. Hildbold, the center of a gathering of 275 friends and relatives at the Ohio Masonic home in Springfield on the occasion of the celebration of Mr. Dumbauld's one hundredth birthday anniversary.

Mr. Dumbauld has the distinction of being the oldest Mason and the oldest Methodist in the state. He has been a member of the Masonic order for 76 years.

The birthday celebration was arranged by Fort Recovery Lodge No. 506 and was attended by Masonic lodges of Celina and Portland, Ind.

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, World war ace, flew from Wright field in Dayton, circled the tables on the lawn of the home where a picnic dinner was served and dropped flowers. The flowers were presented to Mr. Dumbauld by Lieutenant Price, son of E. J. Price, superintendent of the home. At Mr. Dumbauld's table the centerpiece was a three tiered cake lighted by 10 small pink candles, baked for him by the chef of the home.

A chorus of nine members of the home sang three selections. Instrumental music was furnished by the Fort Recovery band of which James Woodrow Myers of Celina, a great grandson of Mr. Dumbauld is a member.

A program which followed the dinner was given in Rickley Memorial auditorium. C. A. Reuter of Fort Recovery presided, and Rev. Ulrich of Fort Recovery made the invocation. E. J. Price, the home superintendent gave the address of welcome, and Mr. Reuter recounted interesting incidents in Mr. Dumbauld's life.

Mr. Dumbauld was presented with an ebony cane decorated with a silver plate on which his name, age and the name of the lodge were engraved.

Among the 275 present were about 50 relatives. Mr. Dumbauld has one son living, Jay Dumbauld, 61, of Columbus, 14 grandchildren, 11 great grandchildren and six great great grandchildren.

LARGE CROWD HEARS PROGRAM OF MUSIC

Between 250 and 300 persons heard the Petrie Novelty quintet in a program of musical numbers last night at the Chautauqua pavilion. The program launched the fall festival which is being sponsored by the Woman's Home Missionary society of Epworth M. E. church to finance its missionary pledge this year.

The second of the series will be given next Friday night when Charles Ross Taggart, the old country fiddler, will be presented.

Semi-classical numbers, old favorites, combined with novelty sketches and vocal refrains, made up the program. Herbert Petrie, manager and leader of the company, is well known in musical circles as a trumpeter-soloist and has an enviable reputation both in this country and Canada.

Thirteen different instruments were used by the company in presenting the program and the selections included instrumental solos, duets and ensembles.

HEIDELBERG BAND PARADES TODAY

Thirty-five nattily attired Heidelberg college students, composing the school's band paraded through the Marion business district at noon today and gave a concert on the courthouse esplanade.

The band, enroute to Delaware, where the Heidelberg and Ohio Wesleyan university football teams clashed this afternoon, paraded from the city parking lot.

The band members wore "student prince" uniforms, with cadet caps, brass buttoned jackets of black with red trousers.

SLEEP IT OFF, IS ORDER OF JUDGE

A stir in municipal court was aroused this morning when three transients, arrested last night for intoxication, were to be arraigned before Judge William R. Martin.

Brought into court and placed along "defendants' row," the trio gave evident signs of still being quite "tipsy," court attaches said. Police returned them to their cells, to be arraigned when they sobered up.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR MARION JEWS

Part of Yom Kippur Observance, Closes Day of Atonement Rites.

A memorial service today at 3 p. m. brought to a close the Day of Atonement observance by the Marion Congregation of Israel. Today is Yom Kippur, the most sacred day in the Jewish calendar.

The memories of the late Mrs. Harry Bornheim, Mrs. Metta Marx Lazarus and Miss Rose Rosenberg were honored.

The observance began last night with services in the temple in the Marion National bank building and continued with services today at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

George G. Kleinmaier, a member of the congregation read a sermon last night on "The Threefold Atonement," written by Rabbi Harry A. Ettelson of Philadelphia. This morning the sermon was on "Seeing Ourselves as God Sees Us," written by Rabbi Joseph G. Kornfeld of Toledo. At the service at 2 p. m. Mr. Kleinmaier read a sermon by Rabbi Solomon B. Freehof of Chicago, on "The Gate of Tears."

In the days of the Temple, the Day of Atonement was chiefly characterized by sacrificial rites, as specified in the sixteenth chapter of Leviticus. Both priests and people abstained from food and drink, uttered confessions of their sins, and invoked the God of Mercy for forgiveness. Today, the sacrifices are no more, and in their stead prayer and meditation are substituted. The Rabbis of old endowed Yom Kippur with a devout religious atmosphere. They considered this day as the day when the Supreme Judge of all set His seal to the fate of every creature on earth.
